NO. 46

Wilson and Marshall Elected

House of Representatives in Doubt--Senate Democratic.

Kentucky Democratic By 27,000.

California has gone for Wilson by a majority of 3,000 which clinched the victory for Democracy. Wilson carried thirty States, Hughes seventeen, with Minnesota yet in doubt. Wilson received the solid vote of the South and nearly the entire West with the State of New Hampshire also in his column.

In the largest vote ever cast in an election in the United States President Wilson was given an estimated popular majority over Hughes of 403,302 votes. For the two leading Presidential candidates, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes, 16,724,114 votes were cast on Tuesday. This number does not include the vote given the Socialist, Socialist-Labor or Prohibition candidates.

Allowing the candidates on these three tickets the same number of votes the candidates received in 1912 it is estimated that the total 1916 vote will be 17,932,114. It is more than probable that this vote will show an increase and the grand total vote this year will pass 18,000,000, an increase of 2,000,000 during the past four years.

The popular vote shows how great was President Wilson's victory. In 1912 the combined vote of Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt was 1,214,259 greater than that of Mr. Wilson. In 1916 President Wilson wiped out this lead and passed it by 403,000 votes.

The House.

Members of the House of Representatives in the newly elected Sixty-fifth Congress face the most uncertain organization situation in the history of the Government.

With a few districts still in doubt the Republicans appear to have a plurality of four or five members and a possible majority of two or three when it is figured that an Independent elected in Massachusetts and a Progressive elected in Minnesota probably will vote with them for organization purposes. Independence of action has characterized a number of the re-elected members on the Republican side, however, and their attitude toward Democratic legislation in the last few years has given Democratic leaders cause for hope that some of them might carry their independence into the organization of the next House.

On the face of the unofficial returns the political division of the House is so close that an effective and certain working majority does not exist. While there might be a few changes when the official returns are counted, the chances are that these would not materially alter the general result.

The Senate.

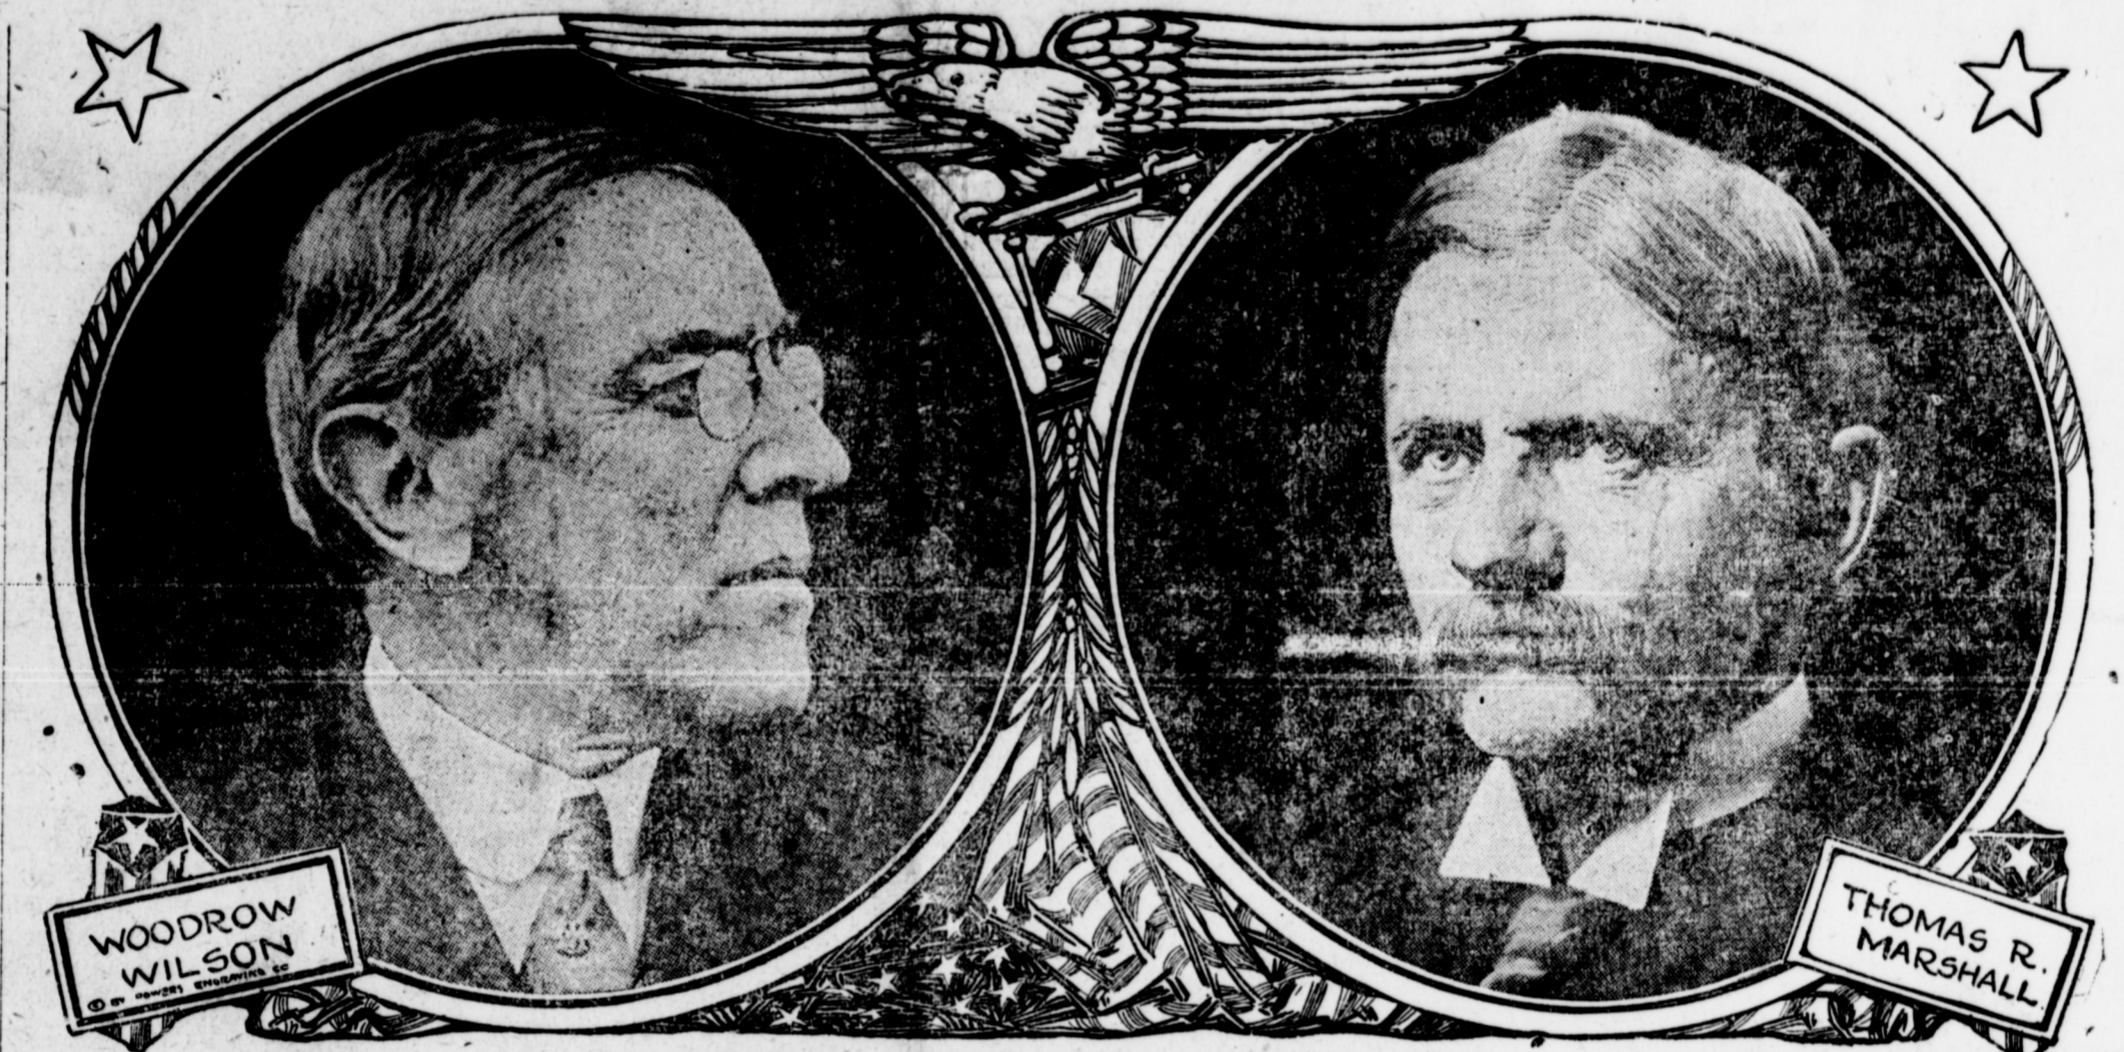

But even in the event that the House is Republican after the official count is made, the Republicans cannot control legislation in the Sixty-fifth Congress because the Senate will be Democratic by a safe working majority of twelve. The Senate, according to the latest figures will consist of 54 Democrats and 41 Republicans, with one Senator from New Mexico yet in doubt.

Senator James Complimented.
Saturday's Louisville Times very truly says:

Among those wheel-horses of Democracy who gained new laurels during the hard-fought campaign which re-elected President Wilson, none distinguished himself by his assiduity and excellent judgment more than did Senator Ollie M. James, of Kentucky. Powerfully equipped, both mentally and physically, Senator James campaigned Ohio as if it had been his native State; and upon the top of this effort, undertook the rigors of an extensive tour throughout the great West.

With the experience gained through many a dint delivered and sustained upon the battleground of State and National politics, Senator James proved a great help in every community visited by him. And so deft is his touch upon the public pulse that he returned to Kentucky from his field of labor to indicate almost to a hair what the result would be in every State he had visited.

BEN JOHNSON

DEFEATS HASWELL

Fourth District Goes Democratic by about 3000 Majority.

Hon. Ben Johnson, of Bardstown, Ky., Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fourth District, was re-elected by a majority of about 3,000 over John P. Haswell, Jr., the Republican candidate. The following table gives the unofficial vote in each county of the Fourth Congressional District:

ator James has devoted his talents and capacities to the interest of the people. He has been recognized as one of President Wilson's closest coadjutors in the maelstrom of national and international events which have vexed every moment of our President's incumbency. This is but due the sterling honesty and native ability of the big statesman from Marion. The Times adds to this tribute its own congratulations to Senator James for services rendered—and for the field of future usefulness which he enjoys and should continue to enjoy.

Good Hunting Season.

The best hunting season since the creation of this commission is the prediction of J. Q. Ward, executive agent of the Kentucky Game and Fish Commission, concerning the hunting season, which will open Wednesday. "There will be a chance for a mixed bag, which is pleasing to the average sportsman," said Mr. Ward. "I don't know when quail has been so plentiful and well distributed, and there are many rabbits, jacksnipe and squirrels."

James Invited To Kentucky.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Senator Ollie James was bombarded to-day with telegrams and special-delivery letters urging him to be present at Democratic jubilees to be held at various places in Kentucky to-morrow night to celebrate the Democratic election returns. Especially urgent invitations came from Henderson and Hopkinsville. The Senator expressed regret that public business will make it impossible for him to return to Kentucky next week.

O'FLYNN OFFERS TO

BUY POOLED TOBACCO
R. E. O'Flynn has made an offer for the entire pool, held by the Farmers' Co-operative Tobacco Association. The offer was made on Monday to President Ford. Here is what Mr. O'Flynn will pay for the pooled crop:

For leaf $12 to $6
For hogs $10 to $6
For trash $5

When asked concerning Mr. O'Flynn's offer, President Ford stated that it was "being considered." Before any action can be taken it must be passed on by the board of directors, and the action of the board of directors accepted or rejected by the poolers.

Mr. O'Flynn, who is representing foreign tobacco interests, stated Monday that he has a contract to purchase the entire pool at the figures quoted above. He is ready to give a good bond that he will receive every pound of tobacco delivered by the association at the delivery points to be designated at a later date. Mr. O'Flynn says that he estimates the pooled crop at something under 20,000,000, but that he will not require the association to deliver any specified amount. Mr. O'Flynn, in the event the tobacco is sold to him, is not anticipating any trouble in finding warehouses for the handling.

President Ford gave no indication as to when an answer would be given to Mr. O'Flynn on his offer.—Owensboro Messenger.

Child Shoots His Father.

Columbus, Ind., Nov. 12.—Because John Todd, 40 years old, today spanked his five-year-old son Virgil the boy procured a revolver and shot his father. Todd's condition is critical. He was sitting in a chair when shot. Arising he faced his son while the boy was holding the weapon in both hands and trying to fire again. He took the weapon from the child, then dropped to the floor. Todd says he spanked his son because he was "cutting capers."

The stickleback is one of the most interesting members of the "finny tribe." It constructs a home for its prospective mate and then mounts guard over it until the mate comes along. The home is built from seaweed, twigs and aquatic plants which are ingeniously woven together. There are two entrances to the home, which are never left unguarded by the master of the house until the lady of his choice signifies her willingness to enter.—[Popular Science Monthly.

BOOM JAMES FOR

SENATE LEADER

Entitled To Reward For Efforts For Party Success, Say Friends.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Friends of Ollie M. James at the national capital are paying him the compliment of saying that he is just the man for leader of the United States Senate, to succeed Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, who was defeated in the election last Tuesday.

The suggestion of Senator James for the place of high party responsibility is likely to take on the character of a widespread movement among his friends, who believe that not only has he unusual qualities for the place, but that he is entitled to reward for his herculean efforts for party success in many campaigns. In the campaign just ended he was recognized as the leading figure on the stump for the Democrats.

There was a time when the elevation of a Senator to leadership during his first term was unthinkable, but old traditions were shattered when Senator Kern was elected leader early in his first term and the elevation of Senator James to leadership would not now be considered out of place on account of his limited Senatorial service.

It is pointed out that in floor debate he is aggressive at times militant, and that he has all the qualifications for a leader who would put the Democratic party in the center of the Senatorial map and keep it there.

When Senator James was told tonight of the boom that has been started for him for leader he said that he is not a candidate and is content to serve in the ranks.

Kentuckians Advanced.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The result of the Senatorial elections will move Senator James up one notch on the Finance Committee and one notch on the committee on Geological Survey. Senator Beckham moves up one place on the committee on Post-offices and Post-roads.

Muhlenberg County.

Greenville, Ky., Nov. 11.—Official returns in Muhlenberg county give Wilson 2,900; Hughes 3,533; Thomas, 2,832; Taylor, 3,496. The Socialists cast 146 votes and Prohibitionists 22.

AGENT PUT TO DEATH OR HELD FOR RANSOM

Execution of American Confirmed
—Carranza Sends more Troops Against Vistas.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 8.—A report was received here late last night from Chihuahua that Edgar Koch, German Consular Agent at Parral, either was killed or was being held for ransom by Villa bandits in the vicinity of Santa Rosalia.

Koch is believed to have started from Parral with the $50,000 worth of silver bars for an American mining company, which is reported to have been taken from him at Santa Rosalia by Villa bandits, and a subsequent report says he had been executed.

Albert Herold, the American who was arrested at Guadalupe, south-east of Juarez, on a charge of cattle stealing and sent to Chihuahua City by the military authorities, has been liberated, according to a message by his friends here to-day. According to them Herold was sentenced to be shot. He now is on his way to the border. Eleven cowboys who were arrested at the same time were also released in Juarez to-day.

General Alvarado Obregon, Mexican Minister of War, has ordered another division from Coahuila to proceed against the Villa bandits in Chihuahua. He stated in a message to Mexican Consul Eduardo Soriano Bravo here to-day. These troops will re-enforce the recently organized division under General Francisco Murguía, which is proceeding northward from Escalon, according to messages received from Chihuahua City. Obregon added that his reports from Torreon indicated everything was quiet.

A foreigner who arrived here from Santa Rosalia late last night confirmed the report of Dr. C. H. Fisher's execution by Villa bandits at Santa Rosalia, following capture of the town by Villa October 26. The foreigner stated Dr. Fisher was stabbed to death by the bandits.

The foreigner also confirmed the report that Villa bandits cut the ears from many Carranza soldiers, and unspeakably mutilated the Carranza officers. Villa was reported to be at La Generala Ranch, near Parral.

Unconfirmed reports of a battle between the Villa bandits and the reorganized Carranza troops at Dorado, Chihuahua, between Parral and Jimenez, Friday and Saturday, have been received here by United States Government agents and by Carranza officials.

NORWAY REPLIES TO THE GERMANS

Christiania, via London, Nov. 9.—The Norwegian note replying to the German protest against the U-boat ordinance of October 13 was to-day delivered to the German Ambassador here.

The controversy between Norway and Germany over the submarine question reached an acute stage with the passage of the ordinance of October 13 by King Haakon's government. By this ordinance submarines of belligerent powers were forbidden to traverse Norwegian waters except in cases of emergency.

In the latter instance they were directed to remain upon the surface and fly their national flag. Mercantile submarines were also ordered to remain on the surface and display their country's colors. This ordinance provoked strong feeling in Germany and Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, the German Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, was quoted in a Copenhagen paper as saying that the German note of protest would be a serious one, and that Germany would not calmly submit to the action of the Norwegian government.

Webb-Kenyon Bill Argued.
Washington, Nov. 8.—Argument of West Virginia cases testing the constitutionality of the Federal Webb-Kenyon and West Virginia liquer laws continued in the Supreme Court to-day, with counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America pointing to prohibition victories in four States yesterday, and urging the need of the Webb-Kenyon law's provisions to make "dry" statutes effectual.

MAN KILLS HIS WIFE SON-IN-LAW AND SELF

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Three homicides and a suicide was the death toll taken here on election night. However, none of the tragedies grew out of the election.

Ewing Wood, member of a prominent family, fatally wounded Joe Stewart, a young farmer. Wood surrendered and is in jail.

Later in the evening John Boales, 59 years old, a farmer of the Pembroke vicinity, shot and killed his wife, 50, at their home. He then came to Hopkinsville and went to the home of his son-in-law, James Aldridge. He summoned Aldridge to the window of his bedroom and killed him.

Boales entered the room through the window and said to his daughter: "Lucy, you needn't be afraid. I have killed your mother and now have killed Jim and will kill myself."

He then went to an open field about half a mile from the Aldridge home, where he hitched his horse, took off the saddle blanket and spread it on the ground. He laid down upon it and sent a bullet through his head.

Mrs. Boales had filed a suit for divorce some time ago, but dismissed the action when she and her husband signed an agreement adjusting their troubles.

"FATHER OF PARCEL POST" DEFEATED

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—President Wilson carried Maryland in yesterday's election by a plurality estimated at 16,510, but Congressman David J. Lewis, "father of the parcel post," was defeated in the contest for the United States Senatorship by Dr. Joseph I. France, whose estimated plurality was 6,367. Lewis's defeat was attributed largely to the openly expressed hostility of the Democratic organization in Baltimore City and to the anti-prohibitionists, because of his vote in Congress for a national prohibition amendment.

Baltimore City, which gave President Wilson 9,300 plurality, gave Dr. France 9,782 plurality. Four Democratic and two Republican Congressmen were elected, a Republican gain of one. In addition to the five incumbents, Frederick N. Zihlman, of Cumberland, Republican, was elected from the Sixth District, formerly represented by Mr. Lewis.

Prohibition was defeated in seven of the eleven localities in which the proposition was voted upon in the State.

Baltimore City gave a majority against it of 43,000. Annapolis rejected it by 500, while Havre de Grace, at which racing is conducted, went "dry" by 22 votes. Hagerstown voted dry.

The budget amendment to the State Constitution was adopted by about 30,000 majority.

New State Officers.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—The Democratic State ticket, elected yesterday, is as follows:

GOVERNOR—James M. Cox, of Montgomery.

UNITED STATES SENATOR—Atlee Pomerene, of Stark.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR—Earl D. Bloom, of Wood.

SECRETARY OF STATE—William D. Fulton, of Licking.

STATE TREASURER—Chester D. Bryan, of Madison.

STATE AUDITOR—A. V. Donahy, of Tuscarawas.

ATTORNEY GENERAL—Joseph McGhee, of Jackson.

The majorities arranged around 75,000.

Deposits of coal in Missouri appear to have been known as early as 1806.

DEFEAT A BITTER PILL RETALIATION-NEXT.

Old-Line Republicans Blame Liquor Interests For Route of Governor Willis.

Old-line Republicans yesterday said nothing will stop them from voting to make Ohio "dry" at the next opportunity. They are bitter over the victory of James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for Governor.

They point to the fact that Governor Willis has taken no stand against the saloons; that he ordered saloon licenses distributed before election day, so that they might not be held over saloon keepers to whip them into line.

It is thought by Republican office seekers that if the Democrats control the Legislature absolutely, steps will be taken to put hundreds of county and city jobs under Civil Service which now are exempted through appointment as deputies.

Should this prove to be a fact, then, it is said, the Republican organization would be unable to control the vote upon a "wet or dry" issue, even if it is desired, and several well known politicians were willing to wager yesterday that Ohio will go into the "dry" column when the issue is again presented.

Backing up their declaration, they point to the fact that the last liquor fight was won by the "wets" because Hamilton county gave a majority in excess of 70,000.

It was declared yesterday that William Hess, Republican Executive of the Eleventh Ward, will be forced to resign from the Executive Committee. Republican leaders and members of the Executive Committee charged Hess worked openly against Governor Willis, and so forfeited all right to remain a member of the Executive Committee. As he was elected Executive of his ward, he cannot be denied the right to remain upon the County Central Committee, but his resignation as a member of the Executive Committee will be demanded by other members of that committee, it was declared yesterday.

THE MALADY OF THE KAISER'S FATHER

Whenever any indisposition of the Kaiser is announced the recollection of the malady of his father is naturally recalled. It was in May, 1887, that the three German physicians, Gerhardt, Bergmann and Toibold, declared that the Crown Prince Frederic had cancer of the larynx. Dr. Morell Mackenzie, the celebrated English laryngologist, denied the presence of a cancer and proposed to charge himself with the treatment of the Prince. The Crown Princess Victoria, daughter of Queen Victoria, decided that her husband should follow the advice of her countryman.

The Princess and her husband established themselves for a time at San Remo. It soon appeared that the German doctors were right in their diagnosis. The cancer could no longer be denied. Prince Frederic refused to allow himself to be operated upon. In the meantime, the old Emperor William died and the Prince returned to Berlin, where he became Frederic III. On June 5, a year after the first Frederic succumbed, Dr. Mackenzie then declared that he had dissipated as to the cancerous nature of the disease "through motives of humanity," and wrote a pamphlet justifying his course. Frederic in 1887, at the time of his death, was 57 years old. The Kaiser William II. will attain that age on January 27.—[Indianapolis News.]

Regular Hawk Killer.

A. J. Richmond, who is keeper of Atkinson Park, is fast gaining a reputation for marksmanship when he goes out for game. Only the other day when Mr. Richmond shot at a big hawk that had one of his fine large hens cornered, he succeeded in killing hawk, hen and all. He has a reputation for killing more hawks and owls, since he took charge of the park than any keeper who preceded him. He said Monday he had killed nearly a dozen owls and a half dozen hawks.—[Henderson Gleaner.]

Buried For Fifty Years.

In the issue of the News of September 8, 1916, an account appeared telling of the finding of two human skeletons near Nancy, the supposition being that they were pickets in Gen. Zollicoff's division. Saturday Elmo Wilson brought to this office a small blue button which was unearthed from the graves of the dead Confederate soldiers. The button was in a perfect state of preservation, and although it had remained covered by earth for fully fifty years, there was no defacement or marks of its long buried life being visible. As previously published the supposition is that the skeletons were those of the two men on picket duty near the ground upon which the famous battle of Mill Springs was fought. It has been stated, on good authority, they were buried just west of Nancy and some distance from the old Columbia road. It was near this place that the button was found. A short distance from where the bodies of these skeletons were recently unearthed is the burial ground of the Confederates.—[Somerset News.]

As Neutrals See It.

Now the bitter truth, as it appears to us neutrals, is that this fierce and bloody contest has in reality no more of idealism behind it than, let us say, the endless War of the Roses. If it had we might witness the destruction of life and prosperity, the terrible hardships thrown on wretched non-combatants, and bear our own share of the general misfortune that has fallen on Europe with greater equanimity and less rending of hearts. There was indeed a moment in this war, after Germany had broken her faith and her treaty with Belgium, and tried to bully her people, and England had promised to stand by her obligations, that we felt a great principle at stake, and in that strong sympathy with Belgium's defense of her rights and her neutrality, found it difficult not to throw aside all feelings for our own safety and rush to her assistance. It turned out that Great Britain was not really going to take up the cudgels for right against might, but was bent rather on making a business out of a welcome opportunity, and was going to fight rather for her own interests than for the ideal of safeguarding the existence of the smaller nations. Looking back into the history of the last 20 years, the students of European foreign politics saw how its entanglements had gradually prepared the outbreak they were witnessing. And in these entanglements there was a pursuit of selfish interests, and little or nothing of ideals.—[L. Simmons in the November Atlantic.]

THE NATION'S BUGLE.

Hey, boys, you hear that chicken crow?

Good news comes from the West. 'Tis Woodrow Wilson once again—Once more the country's blest!

We need a man of brainy head, And brawny brains within it; The world is spinning like a top, And he's the man to spin it.

Crow on, and let old Wall street know

That money is not master;

That when they spill their money bags

We only run the faster.

Now hear that rooster crow once more—

It is the nation's bugle,

And stirs the blood within our hearts

Just like old "Yankee Doodle."

Nonagenarians Vote.

J. N. Aspley, aged 93 years, and Ab. Lyle, aged 90, cast their ballots to-day.

Mr. Aspley is a Progressive and cast his first Presidential ballot for Zachary Taylor in 1848. To show his youth Mr. Aspley jumped up from the sidewalk this morning in front of the Allison clothing house and cracked his heels together in the air. He resides at 659 Eleventh street, this city.

Mr. Lyle is 90 years of age and cast his first vote in 1852. He is a Democrat and resides at 533 Chestnut street, this city. Both are in fairly good health.—[Bowling Green News.]

$2,500,000 in Gold To Japan.

New York, Nov. 10.—A telegraphic transfer of $2,500,000 gold coin was made by the sub-treasury to-day to San Francisco for account of the Yokohama bank. The gold will be shipped from the Pacific coast to Japan. This is understood to be one of several similar shipments made during the past few months.

Editor Chosen Mayor.

Danville, Ky., Nov. 8.—W. Owen McIntyre, editor of the Danville Advocate, was unanimously chosen Mayor of Danville by the Board of Council last night to succeed the late Mayor J. McDowell Wallace. Mr. McIntyre is one of the best known newspaper men in Kentucky. He is the prime promoter and one-fourth owner of Danville's new fifty-five-room fireproof hotel, and has taken great interest in every civic movement.

Buy Back Captured Ships.

In addition to the purchases of vast quantities of war munitions by Russia in Japan, a dispatch from Maizuru to the Tokio Nichi Nichi says that the Russian Government has placed with the Japanese navy an order for a number of mines and 1,800 of these mines are to be built at the naval arsenal at Maizuru. Further, it is reported that negotiations will shortly be concluded between the Governments of Japan and Russia over the sale to Russia of the three old warships. The really interesting thing about the deal is that the vessels are among those captured from Russia during the war of twelve years ago. The transaction will be dealt with, it is said, by the Minister of Marine on his own responsibility, without consulting the Imperial Diet, though it is said that the price of these warships will be mentioned in the general budget of the Government and submitted to the deliberation of the Diet next session. The three warships will therefore be dropped out of the navy list and then sold to Russia.

New American Porcelain.

One of the results of the war was the stoppage of the importation of laboratory porcelain, and this has resulted in the manufacture of laboratory porcelain in this country, which has stood the hydrochloric acid tests equally well with that manufactured by the royal Berlin pottery in Germany, which until now has been regarded as the standard.

The cooking porcelain ware is being produced in ivory, white, brown, betty and olive green, plain and decorated, and for private ward work the pretty decorations and delicacy of the ware make the porcelain highly attractive.—[Popular Science Monthly.]

W. Ashburn Loses Seat.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 9.—James Wicker, Independent Republican, defeated Ashburn in election to Congress from Alaska for many years; appears to have been defeated for re-election by Charles Sulzer, Democrat, brother of former Governor William Sulzer, of New York, according to late dispatches.

With all the town heard from, the Democratic Territorial Committee claims the election of Sulzer by more than 400 plurality.

Both the House men and the Prohibitionists of Alaska were amazed by the large vote in favor of the prohibition law, which was ratified Tuesday. It is said every town in Alaska gave a majority for the bill.

CLARENCE KLINE, TRUSTY, WALKS FROM REFORMATORY

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 9.—Clarence Kline, alias "Bat" Kline, of Louisville, a trusty at the reformatory, threw down his paint brush where he was working on a warehouse outside the walls and walked away about 4 o'clock this afternoon. A negro saw him go and reported it to Warden Phythian. Kline was serving a term for housebreaking. His freedom was short lived, however, as Deputy Sheriff M. O. Cassidy, of Oldham county, captured him this evening as he alighted from a train at Lagrange.

Dry Leaders Pleased.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The Legislative Committee of the Anti-Saloon League to-night issued the following statement concerning the results of the election where prohibition contests were held:

"The committee is highly gratified at the reports received. Prohibition has taken another great leap forward. Michigan, Nebraska, Montana and South Dakota have voted for State-wide prohibition.

"Thus 24 States now have declared for State-wide prohibition, and more than 60 per cent of the population and 85 per cent of the area of the country now is under prohibitory law."

FAIR PROFITS $10,884— ATTENDANCE 118,807

Profits of the Kentucky State Fair, held in September, aggregate $10,884—the largest amount in the history of the association—according to the financial statement of Secretary Gooch submitted to the State Board of Agriculture at its monthly meeting yesterday.

Secretary Gooch said the 1916 fair set two new records. The first was the new attendance mark of 118,807, and the other the greatest net profits. Commissioner of Agriculture Cohen and members of the Board of Agriculture were surprised that the profits were so large.

The greatest amount of revenues was derived from admission, the sum being $35,803.30. Concessions yielded $9,175.90, while the various shows, including the State's percentage from the midway, grandstand and pavilion shows, being $9,813. The total receipts, including the annual appropriation of $15,000 from the Legislature, were $84,398.48, and the disbursements were $73,514.48. In addition to these figures, Secretary Gooch reported that the association has bills receivable to the amount of $1,961.21 and bills payable amounting to $1,553.40, giving the association an additional item of $407.81 to its credit.

Secretary Gooch's report outlined all of the disbursements to winning exhibitors. Commissioner Cohen and Mr. Gooch told the board of their recent trip of inspection to the Memphis and Dallas and other big fairs of the South.

WILSON VICTORY SONG HIT QUICK TO REACH STAGE

Woodrow Wilson's victory was celebrated amid much enthusiasm at Keith's Theater last night when the Bowman Brothers, Louisville comedians, sang a couple of verses to the tune of the National anthem commemorating the conquering of Wall street and the return of the rule of the people. The verses, by Charles Hamilton Musgrove, of the Louisville Times, were written for the Bowmans a few minutes before they went on, and the comedians broke all stage records in "getting it down," while Harry Cook, the orchestra leader, covered himself with glory by accompanying the singers without a score. The verses, which were received with lusty cheers, follow:

"Our Woodrow, 'tis of thee,
You gave us liberty.

Of thee we sing.
Hughes thought the nation's vote
Boiled to a greenback note,
But you just got his goat—
You did, by jing!

"Our Woodrow, 'tis of thee,
You'll bring prosperity,
To low and high;
Hark to that Wild West whoop!
You licked that Wall-Street group;
Hughes' whiskers are in the soup,
Good night, good-bye!"

Disastrous Forest Fire.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 8.—The forest fire, which started last Friday in the Mannington neighborhood in North Christian, is still raging and the citizens are greatly alarmed. The flames are burning fiercely on both sides of the railroad north of Mannington and are extending toward Nortonville. Several thousand acres of timber have been laid waste.

A farmhouse on D. A. Wilbert's land was destroyed and a large amount of fencing has been burned. Neighbors worked all last night to save the residence of Dixon Williams. It caught fire from sparks several times. Other dwellings in that region are threatened.

Of the Ohio County Union of the A. S. of E., Oct. 14, 1916.

The Ohio County Union of the A. S. of E. met in regular session at Fordsville, Ky., Oct. 14, 1916. County President, J. R. Weller, not being present the house was called to order by secretary H. M. Pirtle and then L. P. Bennett was selected as president pro tem.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and the adoption of same, it was moved and carried that the chair appoint a committee on resolutions. The following were appointed: L. E. Porter, D. Murphy and S. M. Pain.

The following locals then reported delegates: Bennetts, Concord, Pleasant Walk, Heflin and Beda.

The Secretary then read some communications from the National Secretary in regard to the walnuts. The national secretary asked us to set the price on the nuts and report to him, and the price of 4c per pound was voted.

It was then ordered that there be a committee from each local appointed to see after the walnuts and report to the county secretary the amount that each local has for sale and the following were appointed: Beda, Jo. Bennett; Concord, Jim Ballard; Pleasant Walk, John Robertson; Sulphur Springs, E. W. Baker; Bennetts, L. F. Bennett; Clear Run, Harden Hoover; Bells Run, J. C. McQuady; Heflin, L. P. Bennett; Edwards, Jeff Pickrel; Service Hill, R. L. Whittaker; Union, Tom Bennett; Washington, O. R. Tinsley, and Palo, John Dodson.

The committee on resolutions then made the following report which was received and taken up by section:

We, your committee on resolutions, beg leave to submit the following report:

Whereas, we see the need of farmers co-operating together for our welfare, be it

Resolved, 1st, That we reconsider the action of the last county union and hold our county meetings at the county seat instead of at different places about over the county.

Resolved, 2d, That each Magisterial district hold its meetings once a month.

Whereas, county and local treasuries are entirely exhausted and we have no means of obtaining any money for same, except by contribution or assessment, we recommend that this body in session instruct our delegates to the State meeting to use their best efforts to obtain a distribution of the per cent, collected by the A. C. A., in some equitable way so as to turn into our county treasury a sufficient amount to pay our necessary expenses.

Whereas, the farmers of Kentucky are carrying more than their share of the burden of road building under the existing road law, having to pay road tax and also having to work the roads, and

Whereas, under the existing law taxes collected in any district may be and are being spent upon roads in other districts, principally upon automobile roads which the farmers, who have the principal part to bear of the road building, do not use, therefore be it

Resolved, That we members of the American Society of Equity in Ohio County Union assembled at Fordsville, County of Ohio, State of Kentucky, do here and now enter our earnest and vigorous protest against said law as now operative.

Resolved, that we appeal to our legislators at our next General Assembly for an amendment to said law, exempting from road work those who pay road tax and that the amendment further include that all money collected as road taxes shall be applied to road work in the respective Magisterial district where said tax is collected.

Resolved, that the substance of these resolutions be taken before our annual State meeting, soon to convene, that we may have the strength of a united membership in this matter, so vital to all of our people.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished our national organ. The Organized Farmer Also to the local papers with the request that they publish same.

L. L. PORTER,
D. MURPHY,
S. M. PAIN,

Committee.

Mr. S. R. Blanton then made a strong appeal to the people to get together and stand together.

The following delegates were then elected to attend the State meeting: L. L. Porter, John Robertson and L. P. Bennett.

The body then voted that the first district meeting should be held at Concord on Nov. 25th. The house was then adjourned to meet at Hartford on Dec. 2d.

For Winter Colds

You need a real tonic. Strength is required to overcome the trouble. Let that tonic be one that is specially valuable in catarrhal conditions, and you can conquer the cold. A cold is a nasty catarrh; it may become chronic. Chronic catarrh frequently becomes systemic, involving the stomach and the intestinal tract as well as the nose or throat. It means stagnation.

PERUNA IS INVIGORATION

It clears away the waste matter, dispels the inflammation and tones up the system. For forty-five years it has been used in catarrh by thousands of grateful sufferers, who willingly tell the world of their relief. Peruna's long history of helpfulness is the best evidence that it is what you should take.

Miss Rankin, M. C., the newly elected Congresswoman from Montana, has the honor of being the first lady elected to either House of Congress. She is redheaded; a stunning dresser; makes her own clothes; is an effective speaker; well informed upon national questions and anxious to begin her duties in Congress. Much depends on Miss Rankin as her record will, no doubt, be used as an example in future suffrage contests. Keep your eye on the Hon. Miss Rankin!

Fluke McFluke in the issue of the Hartford Republican for Nov. 3d, says:

Mrs. Martin says, since Ransie introduced Charles Fairbanks at Beaver Dam, the other day, all of his old stiff "katie" are about two sizes too small for him. Mrs. Martin presumes said "katie" have drawn up or something.

Fluke have Mr. Martin try the "old katie" again—they may fit by this time. If they don't fit wait for the one sent Mr. Martin by Ernest Wilson, of Greenville, Ky. It may be the very thing.

Mr. A. C. Porter, Campaign Chairman for Ohio county, in the recent election, is to be congratulated on the satisfactory results in both the Presidential and Congressional races as the majority claimed by the Republicans were reduced from their claim of 800 to 1,000 to 553 and 628 respectively. This is especially gratifying in view of the character of the fight made against Mr. Johnson and the influence exerted in and outside of the district.

Mr. Porter had the hearty co-operation of Fred Cooper, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, and Mr. McDowell A. Fogie, secretary, as well as the Democratic Precinct Committees and other Democrats in the various precincts throughout the county.

The Hartford Republican very frankly admits its only consolation in the recent election is in a headline of The Herald last week, "Hughes wins over Wilson." When The Herald went to press not only the Democratic dailies of Kentucky conceded Hughes' election but extras of Democratic as well as Republican papers were then out in New York proclaiming the election of Mr. Hughes. One Republican paper even went so far as to suggest a cabinet to "President-elect Hughes." Ah, but what's the use! Far be it from The Herald to snatch a straw from a drowning man, and if the Republican finds it a balsam for its political lacerations, we gladly add our blessings also. Consolation thou art a jewel!

When California definitely swung into the Democratic column, and thereby assured the re-election of President Wilson, there dawned a new era in American politics. A President had been elected whom Wall Street had found objectionable. The South and West had combined to uphold the interests of the masses against the classes. The people's candidate had won without the electoral vote of New York, New Jersey, Indiana and Illinois. The country wanted peace, with honor, and continued prosperity under Wilson rather than "invisible government" and "favored interests" under Hughes, and this it shall have, the Empire State and Wall Street notwithstanding.

After the political smoke has cleared and the vigorous and aggressive campaign of Mr. Haswell has spent its force in vain, Ben Johnson stands forth victorious, with a majority of about 3,000.

Mr. Johnson while faithfully serving the people of the Fourth Congressional District, and the country at large, has, like all men who count, made a few enemies, both within and without the District. He saved for the United States, and caused to be paid into its Treasury, nearly $2,000,000, from the District of Columbia, and by so doing made enemies in the District of Columbia. But notwithstanding the tireless efforts of these "outsiders" and their combination with a few disgruntled persons here at home, notwithstanding the well financed and hard campaign of several months made by Mr. Haswell and his supporters, Mr. Johnson has again been endorsed in no uncertain terms and again returned to Congress to faithfully represent and guard the interests of this District and continue his service to the country, as chairman of one of the most important committees in Congress.

We congratulate the Fourth Congressional District on having a Representative of the sterling type of Mr. Johnson. We congratulate Mr. Johnson on representing a district which appreciates and recognizes good and faithful service.

As Others Saw It.

When New York, Illinois, New Jersey and Indiana were known to have endorsed the candidacy of Justice Hughes for the Presidency, it was not strange that the public, and newspapers as well, early conceded his election Tuesday night. The large electoral votes of those States seemed to clinch Mr. Hughes' title to the election, for it was assumed that the same influences that impelled the voters of these supposedly pivotal States were general, and would be reflected in the votes of other Northern and Western States.

Shrewdest political forecasters reckoned without their host, however, and as the returns accumulated it began to be apparent before dawn that President Wilson's chances had enhanced tremendously. Just as forecast by the Enquirer's straw vote, the great industrial centers of the Middle West began to give evidence that the labor vote was being given to the President, and later reports from agrarian States proved the correctness of the assumption that the farmer vote would be cast for Mr. Wilson.

The Enquirer said yesterday that the foreign policy of the President would not be altered materially by the election of Mr. Hughes. While this newspaper has not agreed with the foreign policy of the Administration at all times; and has frequently taken occasion to criticize many of its acts, even Mr. Wilson's opponent found it difficult to outline to the public a radically different attitude on international affairs.

The fact that the nation is unwontedly prosperous and enjoying constructive, if not actual, peace with all nations, seems to have outweighed all other considerations with a majority of the voters. Apparently the average voter is content with the present, and is giving himself no concern for the future. Neither wars, rumors of wars, panics nor financial cataclysms disturbed his serenity and confidence.

Mr. Wilson's victory is a notable one. He will probably receive more popular votes than any Democrat that ever ran for the Presidency. To overcome the united Republican and Progressive vote was a herculean feat, which could have been accomplished only by a man in whom there is great public confidence. The surprising endorsement he has received imposes greater responsibilities and duties upon his shoulders. —[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATIC.

Thursday's Courier-Journal in commenting on the election in Kentucky, very truly says:

The result of the election settles definitely all question as to whether Kentucky, when the issue is squarely joined between Democracy and Republicanism, is a doubtful State. That issue was squarely joined Tuesday and an old-time Democratic majority was the significant answer. And this despite the extraordinary efforts and the sanguine expectations of the Republicans to carry the State. They were never better organized and they never had so much money to spend. Their Western manager, himself a citizen of Kentucky, was confident that the State would vote for Hughes, and his confidence was based upon considerably more than partisan prejudices and campaign expediency.

But such confidence on the part of the Republicans was lacking in proper consideration of two facts:

First, that in any national election where the contest is a straight one between the Democratic party and the Republican party, unaffected by local or extraneous conditions, the majority of the voters in Kentucky are Democrats;

Second, that under Chairman Cantrill the Democratic party was admirably and effectively organized. Whenever such conditions unite Kentucky is a Democratic State, and all the machinery and money of the party of machinery and money cannot make it anything else.

Tobacco Crop Finer.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Following its estimate, made public early this week, showing a much larger tobacco crop in Ohio and Kentucky than was produced last year, the department of agriculture to-day gave out a statement indicating that the tobacco crop is not only larger, but very much finer in every respect than last year. In Kentucky the quality of ninety-four is strikingly high, compared with last year's quality of eighty-four. The crops in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia are ninety or above in quality.

May Get Cabinet Position.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Senator Kern, of Indiana, who was defeated Tuesday, is mentioned for a place in the Cabinet in the new Administration.

DR. PENDLETON'S ORPHAN BRIGADE

During the Battle of Murfreesboro In

A GIGANTIC STRUGGLE IN WHICH

Many Kentuckians Including
General Roger W. Hanson,
Lost their Lives.

UNWRITTEN HISTORY MADE

The part Dr. Pendleton's Company played in that gigantic struggle—a bit of unwritten history after the hard campaign our Company, with the Orphan Brigade, had endured in the South in October, 1862. We came back to Murfreesboro, Tenn., as we had the vain hope that ere many days we would get marching orders to Kentucky we were in good spirits, having new uniforms and in good comfortable quarters; having good times generally.

Things went well until Christmas week and my recollection is Christmas came that year on Friday and Monday after Christmas we received orders to cook five days rations and get ready to march. So Monday at noon the entire army began to march out the Nashville pike, and just where the pike crosses Stone River we halted in line of battle. We remained there all night and Tuesday afternoon the cavalry came in and as they passed through our lines the Yankees opened on them with a battery that plainly told Rosecrans' army was advancing. Our army was put in motion to be ready for the fray. Our Brigade was moved up Stone river to the right of the pike. Just in front of us was a hill that the Union army was trying to get possession of but our commander saw the situation and ordered Gen. Hanson to take possession of the hill. He ordered the 9th Ky. forward and our company was deployed on the skirmish line and after a sharp fight drove them off and planted a battery on the hill. It was now night and our company was deployed on the skirmish line on the bank of the river and the Yankee line on the north side of the river in gun shot of us; but we had orders not to fire a gun unless they advanced.

That night there was a cold rain and sleet, which froze to our clothes. Next morning before day our company moved to our right in front of the hill we had taken the evening before, and at daylight the left wing of our army made a furious attack on their right, which lasted all day Wednesday, driving them about five miles. We did nothing but skirmish that day and support our batteries, which were engaged all day.

Thursday passed with nothing more than artillery dueling and skirmishing. Friday morning greeted us with a clear day and at noon that day Gen. Bragg ordered Gen. Breckenridge with his division to move forward on our right to crush the left wing of the Federal army and drive them back to Nashville. Our company was again deployed on the skirmish line and was ordered to drive the Federals out of a house that they occupied in front of where the advance was to be made. After a furious attack we drove them out and John Chinn ran in and set the house on fire. After that our company moved to the right and then the most desperate struggle of the battle began. Gen. Breckenridge lost about one-third of his fine division, in that charge and after driving them across the river wasn't able to hold his ground and had to retreat back across the river. The noble Gen. Roger W. Hanson gave up his life in that charge and many other good Kentuckians were left on that bloody field. There was no fighting on Saturday. Saturday night our army left the field; gave up Murfreesboro and fell back to Tullahoma where we spent the balance of the winter. Our regiment was left at Manchester which was a little in advance of the main army.

T. R. WORKING

AGAINST THE GRAIN

Among other things in a special from Indianapolis, Ind., to the Courier-Journal, Nov. 11th, it is said:

Another bit of post-election information which is of national interest has come to light here. No less a personage than Edwin M. Lee, State chairman of the Progressive party, is authority for the story of how George W. Perkins forced Theodore Roosevelt, against his will, to enter the fight for Mr. Hughes. The story is that at the time of the Chicago conventions Perkins entered a conference with Roosevelt and told him point-blank that he must from that time on support Charles E. Hughes for the Presidency. This Roosevelt refused to do. Thereupon Perkins—the "angel" of the Progressive party—told Mr. Roosevelt in no uncertain terms that he (Mr. Roosevelt) would receive not one cent of financial backing and would find himself devoid of certain great newspapers' support if he persisted in his determination to make the race for the presidency on the Progressive ticket and thereby insure the re-election of Mr. Wilson. Perkins' great sisal interests in Yucatan were linked up with those of other leaders in the Republican party, so the story goes, and it was for the preservation of his alliance with these men, according to the story told here, that he supported the Republican ticket.

EXTRA SESSION EARLY IN JANUARY PROBABLE

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 11.—While Gov. Stanley, who is confined to the mansion by carbuncles, which have been troubling him for several weeks, is studying the Revenue Bill, prepared by the Tax Commission appointed by him at the instance of the last General Assembly, and has not intimated whether he has made up his mind to call a special session, it is generally believed that one will be called. It will not be called this month. This much is certain, since the month is nearly half gone, and the Governor will confer with the commission before the contents of the Revenue Bill are made public. If it is called in December, with the holiday season approaching, the session is freely expressed that the session will adjourn over until 1917 without completing its work. Consequently, it seems probable that a special session will be called for the first of January. In the meantime the Revenue Bill will have been published long enough for popular sentiment to crystallize and the legislators will have had time to discuss it, get the sense of their constituents and prepare any amendments they may consider wise.

PETTY POLITICIANS BEAT
HUGHES, SAYS JOHNSON

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Gov. Hiram Johnson, successful candidate for the United States senatorship on the Republican and Progressive tickets, issued a statement to-day charging that "a few petty politicians," acting in conjunction with certain newspapers, "so misused Mr. Hughes and his visit to California that the injury they did we were unable to undo." To this the statement ascribes the Wilson plurality in the State.

William H. Crocker, Republican national committeeman, and Francis V. Keesling, former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, are named as having "made it appear that Mr. Hughes was entirely reactionary and that he was neither in accord with nor sympathetic with California's progress and achievements." Mr. Crocker, after reading a portion of the statement, said: "I will say nothing on this."

Embargo On Foodstuffs Urged.

Boston, Nov. 11.—Mayor James M. Curley sent a letter to President Wilson to-day asking him to convene Congress and submit a recommendation that a law be enacted putting an embargo on food products, as a step toward reducing the cost of living. The mayor included in his letter a table giving the increase in food prices within the last year, which he said, showed that wages would have had to advance 100 per cent. in order to keep pace with the rise in cost of necessities of life.

Mayor Curley asserted that an embargo would destroy "speculative combinations," and "contractual obligations with warring powers."

Col. James J. Smith Dead.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 11.—The familiar voice that for sixteen years has called to order the highest tribunal in Kentucky was stilled forever when Col. James J. Smith, sergeant-at-arms of the Court of Appeals, died this morning at 8:45 o'clock at his home on Capitol avenue. He had been ill a month and a day, death resulting from heart lesion following an acute attack of stomach trouble. His condition was critical from the start and his brother, Senator Mark Smith, of Arizona, hastened to his bedside, but Col. Smith grew better until last week, when he suffered a relapse.

Bryan Is Delighted.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 10.—Wm. J. Bryan to-night expressed his joy at Wilson's election by the West and South without the vote of New York, saying Wilson was the only President in recent years independent of Wall Street.

Mr. Bryan uttered the prophecy that Prohibition would be "an acute issue" four years hence, unless Congress submits a constitutional amendment in the meantime.

Will Be Overcome.

Washington, Nov. 10.—His prediction that earth movements in the Panama canal zone would be overcome "finally, and for all time" was reaffirmed by Gen. Goethals, Governor of the canal zone in his annual report, made public to-day. This will be accomplished, he says "notwithstanding the calamity howlers and in spite of the disastrous predictions of 'know-it-alls.'"

Additional Road Bonds. Bell county voted $105,000 additional road bonds Tuesday. It is reported here. This makes a total of $390,000 voted in that county.

Diaz Adherents Hold Railroad.

Puerto, Mex., Nov. 8.—The adherents of Brig. Gen. Felix Diaz, nephew of the former President, Gen. Porfirio Diaz, hold the Tehuantepec railroad south of Santa Lucracia. Since Friday last a train of thirteen cars with Carranza troops aboard has been missing.

On October 23 rebel forces attacked a train, killing nine soldiers and wounding eleven. The passengers were robbed.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

CONFEDERATE SURGEON DIES SUDDENLY

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 12.—Dr. Charles H. Todd, one of the best known physicians in Kentucky, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in this city this morning. Dr. Todd was born in Virginia and during the Civil War was a surgeon with Gen. Robert E. Lee's army of Northern Virginia.

Dr. Todd's wife, who was a granddaughter of Gen. Isaac Shelby, first Governor of Kentucky, died several years ago. He survived by two daughters in Owensboro, and a son, Stuart Todd, an artist, in Cincinnati. Dr. Todd was commander of the Rice E. Graves Camp, Salted Confederate Veterans. He was also prominent in the Kentucky State Medical Society.

Disfranchised For Two Years. George Baker pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon and was fined $50 and sentenced to ten days in jail and disfranchised for two years.—[Courier-Journal.]

Smith—Baird.

Mr. L. D. Baird, of Central City, and Miss Bessie Smith, of Beaver Dam, motored over to Hartford yesterday morning and were united in marriage by Rev. B. W. Napier at the parsonage at 11 o'clock.

The groom, who is the son of Mr. Taylor Baird, has a position with the Standard Oil Co., Central City, but recently transferred to Lebanon, Ky. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. E. T. Smith, is one of Beaver Dam's most popular young ladies, and Mr. Baird is to be congratulated in winning her heart and hand as a helpmate down life's rugged path.

The happy couple, accompanied by the bride's sister, Miss Jessie Smith, left immediately after the ceremony for the groom's parents, where a sumptuous repast was awaiting them and the invited guests.

They will leave for Lebanon, Ky., tomorrow where Mr. Baird has a position with the Standard Oil Co.

The Herald joins their many friends in wishing them all possible happiness.

Boys Corn Club Show.

On Saturday, November 18th we will hold our Boys' annual Corn-Club Show here at Hartford at the court house, beginning at 10 a. m. We expect to have all the boys with samples of their corn and their record books to show their year's work.

We would like for every one who can to come and see with the boys and see what they have done and encourage them by their presence and show them they are interested in them and their work.

This is a great work for the boys and every one should do all they can to encourage them in it. We will have Mr. Otis Kercher, State Agent of Boys' Pig Club, with us at this time to judge the corn and grade the books for the boys and then we will award the premiums to the winners. So come and share their joy with them. W. W. BROWDER, County Agent.

Patron's Day Next Friday.

The faculty and trustees of Hartford College are arranging for a Patron's Day on next Friday, November 17, 1916. Prof. R. P. Green, of Western Kentucky Normal, will make an address at the court house at 1:30 p. m. All patrons and every body interested in educational affairs are cordially invited and urged to be present. The out-of-town patrons of the school are invited to spend the day in Hartford and visit the school in the forenoon. An effort is being made to bring the school and patrons in closer touch and to increase interest in educational matters. At the close of Prof. Green's address a Parent-Teacher Association will be organized.

Very Successful Meeting Closed. Beaver Dam, Nov. 13.—We closed our splendid meeting here last night with forty additions to the church, thirty-one conversions, eight by letter, one restoration.

At the close of the morning service, Sunday 12th, I baptized the candidates. At the evening service they, with the others who had joined were received into the full fellowship of the church. We had a praise service in which men, women and children took part. This is one of the most remarkable meetings I ever took part in. The Lord was with us in great power. To Him be the glory. R. L. Not A Tack—Not A Nail

Billiken Shoes

Are made without a tack or nail; of the softest, toughest leather known, on broad, sensible, improved foot-form last—the most perfect child's shoe ever made—The one shoe a child outgrows.

Buy "Billiken" Shoes and let the children romp and play to their heart's content without annoyance to you, injury to the home or discomfort to themselves.

The growing feet of children are easily irritated by stiff soles or narrow shoes. "Billiken" Shoes are made by specialists in the largest shoe factory in the world, devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Children's High Grade Shoes. The soles on "Billiken" Shoes are Pure Oak Flexible Leather—the softest and most pliable leather known, being especially prepared to withstand hard service. The absence of nails, tacks, etc., prevents the children scarring the floors and furniture. The soft soles render the shoes noiseless. Flexible soles make them as comfortable as a moccasin. The durable leather makes them as lasting as a man's heavy shoes. And they are extremely stylish.

Let Us Show You "Billikens".

The Grave of Mrs. Mary A. Forbes. The grave of Mrs. Mary A. Forbes at the John B. Haynes graveyard, two miles east of Fordville, Ky., is marked with a beautiful monument from the Monumental Works at Canton, Ga.

Trees and choice shrubbery have been planted at the grave showing the highest regard for the memory of this christian lady. The memorial contains a good portrait of Mrs. Forbes and has this inscription upon it: "Mary Ann, wife of Col. Edwin Forbes. Born March 16, 1843. Died Dec. 17, 1915. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

Sweet flowers exhale their fragrant breath
Where now she peacefully sleeps in death
And trees their shedding branches wave
Above her solemn country grave.

The John B. Haynes graveyard is one of the early settler burying grounds of this community and many of the early settlers and their descendants are buried here. For a country graveyard it contains more marble work than is generally seen in a country burying ground, and recently the yard has been cleaned off, refenced and other improvements to this sacred ground.

Girl Shot May Die.
Barbourville, Ky., Nov. 10.—Nettie Holt, clerk in the Red Onion restaurant in the outskirts of the city, was shot and fatally wounded here to-night. Charles Randall is being held without bail. There were no eyewitnesses.

According to the statement of the girl, Randall approached her and proposed an automobile ride. Upon her refusal, she says, Randall left after making threats. Shortly afterward she was fired upon through the window, the ball entering her back and perforated the intestines. Randall was arrested a few minutes later. He made no statement. A box of cartridges was found in the machine. The wounded girl will die, doctors say.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS ARE DEEPLY INTERESTED

Washington, Nov. 9.—Government officials here are deeply interested over to-day's announcements from both the Republican and Democratic leaders that contests might be expected, with the possibility of legal proceedings over the votes of several close States.

Examination of Supreme Court decisions disclosed the electors are plainly regarded as State officers. The highest court has held, in two leading cases, that their proper and proper choice is a question for the State courts to settle, and the Federal Government is not concerned even when fraud is shown.

TAKES ACTION TO STOP COMBINING

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 10.—Combining to enhance prices of necessities of life has been made an offense by the Canadian Government. It was announced here to-day. Penalties are $5,000 fine or two years' imprisonment.

The Government has taken action by Orders-in-Council under the war measure act, which gives them full powers. Food, clothing, fuel and materials for manufacture are all classed as necessities. The existing Canadian law against "combinations" is strengthened. This law declared there should be no combining to "unduly enhance prices." The amendment drops the word "unduly."

It is made an offense also hereafter to limit facilities for transportation, production, manufacturing, storage and merchandising necessities of life, or to prevent or lessen competing in production, sale or transportation. No person may accumulate or withhold from sale necessities beyond the amount reasonably obtained for the person or firm, household or business. Excess accumulations must be offered for sale at prices not higher than reasonable and just. The prohibition as to accumulation of necessities does not apply to farmers; and manufacturers will not be required to sell to other classes or persons than those to whom they have been accustomed to sell.

MARSHALL WILSON: QUOTES SHAKESPEARE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—A quotation from Romeo and Juliet was incorporated in Vice President Marshall's telegram of congratulations to President Wilson to-night. The telegram follows:

"Mrs. Marshall joins me in heartfelt congratulations to Mrs. Wilson and yourself."

To Teach Care Of Teeth.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 10.—The Southwestern Kentucky Dental Association held its semi-annual meeting in Paducah to-day and decided to establish a system of training in the public schools of this section in the care of the teeth. Addresses were delivered by Dr. W. M. Randall, of the Louisville College of Dentistry, and secretary of Kentucky State Dental Association, and Dr. T. M. Crutcher, of Louisville. The annual meeting will be held in Paducah next June. To-day's meeting closed with a dinner to-night at the Palmer House.

A Great Victory Won By the Democrats of Kentucky, Led By J. Campbell Cantrill.

With the smallest campaign fund in the history of the Democratic party in the State he worked through a staggering majority, fighting the largest fund the Republicans ever had.

Validation of his belief that Kentucky is safely Democratic when the voters are sufficiently aroused to go to the polls, was the reward given to State Campaign Chairman J. Campbell Cantrill last night when he had heard of the manner in which Kentucky had responded to the call for Wilson and prosperity. For more than three months he had labored at State headquarters in The Seelbach to perfect an organization in the interest of President Wilson and the Democratic party, and when sufficient counties had been heard from last night to insure a victory he was overwhelmed with congratulations from State and local leaders present at headquarters to receive the returns.

While Chairman Cantrill was the center of praise he asked that full credit be given to the loyal Democrats in every county in the State who had so generously responded to his call for physical help when he first undertook to manage the campaign, saying the splendid victory could not have been obtained without the help of the Democrats who had worked faithfully day and night for weeks without hope of reward other than to see the State kept in

AN ASSOCIATE JUSTICE AND A MULE.

(Parody on "A Little Black Nigger and a Mule.")

A little Associate Justice was somewhat of a fool
When he concluded to tackle the Democratic Mule.

Oh! sad is the story—not from Heaven.

They buried his ambition on November seven.

And the rest of the G. O. P. divided the toys.

And they mourned all day for the lost boys.

But the chairman explained an unwritten rule.

The danger of tackling a Democratic Mule.

In gay New York, where actresses sing

The sweetest songs an actress can sing.

Where the rich perfume of matrons is wafted on the evening breeze;

Where Wall Street coos as one from above

Stories and how she upholds labor with love.

That Associate Justice's ambition was laid to rest

Because Teddy says "he failed to do his best."

That little ambition is dead and gone.

And the rest of the G. O. P. is all forlorn.

A little Associate Justice is minus a job

With a very dry throat choked with a sob.

That little ambition is now for sale

With its high sounding name—oh! wonderful tale.

But there ain't no Associate Justice a big enough fool

To part with his bench and tackle that mule.

That elephant sleeps in its same old bed

With a white sign board stuck up at its head

Which tells its name and the date of its birth.

And how it happened to want the earth

That Democratic Mule still lingers around.

Nibbling votes from that little green mound.

And if you love comfort, my G. O. P. friend,

Don't expose yourself to his business end.

And when the U. S. blows its next election horn,

That little Ambition will come crawling out.

Looking to see if that mule is about.

That Democratic Mule will be standing there

To welcome that Ambition to the cool morning air;

And the G. O. P. may toot its old horn all day,

The ex-Associate Justice'll lie low till that mule gets away.

—[G. P. Balch.

John Was a Bit Hasty.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 9.—John E. Madden, noted turfman, and Louis des Cognets, leading business man and clubman, were in adjoining chairs in a barber shop this morning.

They were discussing the election.

"Why, it's $20 to 25 cents that Hughes will get the decision," exclaimed Madden. "I'll take that bet," said des Cognets, extending a twenty-five-cent piece to Madden, who quickly accepted the wager.

It was agreed that the two barbers who were shaving them should have an equal division of the $20.

"I FELT LIKE 30 CENTS."

HOW DO YOU FEEL?"

Shelbyville, Ky., Nov. 10.—Walter W. Jesse, a delegate to the Progressive National Convention in Chicago, is still on speaking terms with Theodore Roosevelt. His exact feelings toward the former Bull Moose leader, however, are expressed in the following telegram which he filed to-day:

"Theodore Roosevelt, Oyster Bay, N. Y. About 6 p. m., June 10, in the Progressive National Convention at Chicago, I felt like thirty cents.

How do you feel to-day.

W. W. JESSE, Delegate."

Utah Gives Wilson 22,000.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 9.—President Wilson, from estimates based on returns reported from 25 of the 28 counties in Utah, has carried the State by a plurality of 22,000. Incomplete returns from the 25 counties give Wilson 63,607; Hughes, 41,462; for Senator, King, Dem., 54,609; Sutherland, Rep., 37,497; for Governor, Bamberger, Dem., 57,493; Morris, Rep., 43,055.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wailing go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from an Owensboro resident has withstood this sternest of all tests:

C. T. Fitzgerald, grocer, 1421 Fifth St., Owensboro, Ky., says: "My back was very lame and I had dull pains across my loins. My kidneys were sluggish to pass the kidney secretions. I felt depressed, had no energy and my head ached. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief. I now have no lameness in my back and my kidneys are normal."

No Trouble Since.

Over four years later Mr. Fitzgerald said: "I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since they benefited me."

NEW ILLS COME WITH PROSPERITY

Nervous Indigestion Alarmingly Prevalent Everywhere.

DUE TO BREAK-NECK LIVING

Tanlac Health Expert Describes Symptoms of Rapidly Spreading Malady and Explains New Treatment Which Is Having Wonderful Success Wherever Introduced.

Nervous indigestion, due to the modern break-neck speed of living, has become alarmingly prevalent everywhere.

This statement by the Tanlac health expert has created much comment. He continued:

"I have never seen a time when there seemed to be so many cases of nervous indigestion among men and women in all walks of life.

Here Are Symptoms. "The symptoms are extreme irritability, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, and an almost unquenchable restlessness. Everything the victim eats disagrees with him. There are pains in the abdomen and palpitation of the heart. Such cases are usually accompanied by constipation.

"I attribute the prevalence of this trouble to the fast pace at which both men and women are forcing themselves to live. Everybody is engaged in a wild scramble for wealth during this high tide of prosperity.

"The will power can drive the human machine just so far, but there is a limit. The health breaks down all at once and the victim is miserable and unhappy—just half sick. Life loses all its zest.

How Tanlac Helps. "I have had hundreds of people call on me describing just such symptoms. They try Tanlac, and in a week or so most of them tell me that it is helping them to 'get on their feet again.' Tanlac was specially designed to relieve conditions resulting from nervous indigestion and kindred complaints. Everywhere it has been introduced it has had wonderful success."

SPECIAL NOTICE
OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS
OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written personally or for lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of five cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word straight.

The amount, in cash or stamps must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word. This ruling applies to everybody alike, without any distinction.

REIGNS OF TERROR

Times During Which Law and Order Are Dethroned.

WHEN CITIES GO STARK MAD.

This Has Happened Many Times in Different Lands, the Most Notable Example Being Frenzied Paris in the Revolution and in the Commune.

During the insurrection in Ireland, which had its center in the historic old capital of that long troubled isle and which resulted in the execution of several of its leaders, including Sir Roger Casement, Dublin went mad—stark, raving mad. It is a way cities have sometimes. Then, just as single individuals do when smitten with insanity, they perpetrate all sorts of horrible deeds that in their saner moments they would be the first to repudiate and condemn.

Paris was attacked by just such a violent fit of mental aberration during the stormy and blood soaked days of the revolution and again immediately after the last Franco-German war. Her revolutionists in the latter event called themselves Communists, and these frenzied people did pretty much as did the Dublin insurrectionists—that is to say, they seized public buildings, threw up street barricades and entrenched themselves in open strategic spaces. The result in the end, too, was the same. They were overpowered by the regular troops, and the bulk of them were killed or made prisoners, but not until a fourth part of Paris had been laid in ruins, property worth $32,000,000 being destroyed.

To find anything in London approximating to the Dublin madness we must go back to the year 1780, when Lord George Gordon's armed rioters held England's capital at their mercy for several days. On this occasion Newgate jail was stormed and set on fire, after the prisoners had been released, the Bank of England was besieged and hundreds of houses, churches, shops and other buildings were set on fire and destroyed.

Bristol's turn came fifty years later, during the reform agitation of 1831. The city, long seething with political excitement, suddenly exploded like a powder magazine to which a lighter match is applied, and in the course of a day and night 500 of her citizens were killed by the military or burnt to death in the fires they themselves had kindled, and most of her principal buildings, including the mansion house, the bishop's palace and above 100 shops and private dwellings, were heaps of blackened ruins.

In 1830, Newport, Monmouthshire, underwent a similar experience, but the mayor called out the troops with commendable promptitude, and after a brief but bloody conflict in the market square the maddened rioters fled, leaving the place a shambles. Or what a fiery Welsh mob is capable, however, when it is allowed to get out of hand, was shown in 1882 at Tredegar, in the same county, when the miners there, infuriated by an attack made on a Protestant religious meeting by some Irish Roman Catholics, stormed the quarter of the town in which the latter lived and literally wiped it off the face of the earth.

In 1913 five white mechanics working underground at the New Kleinfontein mine, near Johannesburg, were asked to assent to an alteration of hours that would involve their working for the future on Saturday afternoons. They refused and were dismissed, whereupon practically all the white miners on the Rand came out on strike.

That week saw Johannesburg given up to scenes similar to those enacted in Dublin. Bands of armed madmen fought the soldiers with rifles, with revolvers, with dynamite bombs. The railway station was set on fire and destroyed. The offices of the Star newspaper were taken to pieces with giant powder. To venture into the streets was to gamble with death. In the end, of course, the military got the upper hand—they always do—but not until some 200 of the strikers and their sympathizers had been killed and wounded.

Hunger sometimes drives cities crazy. The people suffer until they feel they can suffer no longer. Then the madmen mount into their brains, and things—terrible things—happen. Milan, for instance, went mad from this cause in 1898 owing to the long continued scarcity and dearth of bread. Gaunt, skeleton like women, stripped to the waist, led the rioters and urged them by fanatic cries and gestures to try conclusions with the soldiers.

Milan ran red with blood. In one short afternoon eighty-two of the hunger maddened people were shot dead. Many hundreds were wounded. Not a baker's shop in the city escaped being looted, and most of them were utterly destroyed into the bargain. But in the end the people got their way. The price of bread was reduced.

Belfast has periodical crazy fits. One of the worst occurred in 1886, when eleven people were killed outright and more than 200 were wounded.

New York city, too, had a flash of his kind during the draft riots of July 13 to 16, 1863.—London Tit-Bits.

OUR DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

Its Father and First Secretary Was Robert R. Livingston.

Our first secretary for foreign affairs was Robert R. Livingston of New York, a statesman and jurist who ranked high among the giants who ruled the Continental congress and carried the country through the Revolution. He crossed the department in the face of difficulties which would have driven a less courageous man away from his work. In the congress there was a general fear of government and a general disinclination to depote any governmental powers. So the executive departments which were created were kept in leading strings and were not allowed to go beyond reaching distance of congress, their mother and master.

The department of foreign affairs was created in 1781, and Livingston was put at the head of it. He resigned in June, 1783, and the department was suspended until John Jay was made the secretary in September, 1784. Since then it has had a continuous existence, having been expanded into the department of state in 1789.

Livingston had charge under congress of the conduct of the country's foreign affairs; he gave advice and information to congress; he was the medium for instructing our ministers abroad and of communicating with the French minister in this country; he had an office with assistants and clerks and a systematically organized executive department.

Let the editor of the Diplomatic Correspondence of the American Revolution, Dr. Francis Wharton, describe the father of the state department:

"Livingston," he says, "though a much younger man than Franklin, possessed in his dispassionateness and his many-sidedness not a few of Franklin's characteristics. From his prior administrative experience as royalist recorder of New York he had at least some acquaintance with practical government in America; his thorough studies as scholar and jurist gave him a knowledge of administrative politics in other spheres. As secretary of foreign affairs in 1781-83 he did more than any one in the home government in shaping its foreign policy. But the system he indicated was not the 'militia' system of unsophisticated impulse, but that which the law of nations had at the time sanctioned as the best mode of conducting international affairs. His course as secretary was based on the law of nations as thus understood by him."—Galliard Hunt in Harper's Magazine.

Poet Bryant's Betrothal Prayer.
When William Cullen Bryant was a young lawyer practicing in Massachusetts he met Miss Fanny Fairchild, to whom he addressed the poem:
O fairest of the rural maids!

Religious in all things, he prepared this betrothal prayer, which the couple repeated together before the marriage service in the next year, 1820.

"May Almighty God mercifully take care of our happiness here and hereafter. May we ever continue constant to each other and mindful of our mutual promises of attachment and truth. In due time, if it be the will of Providence, may we become more nearly connected with each other, and together may we lead a long, happy and innocent life, without any diminution of affection till we die."

"God's Acre."
The old Teutonic and Saxon term, "God's acre," as applied to the last resting place of the human body, Longfellow made the theme of one of his most touching and beautiful poems. It is an eminently suggestive term. The acre or field of God contains the seed hidden in the ground for awhile to ripen into a glorious harvest, and just as we write the labels in the spring-time for seed we put in the ground, that we may remember what beautiful flower is to spring from the little gray atom, so we put a stone at the head of the grave of our dead.—New York World.

Wild Parrots Are Fighters.
Parrots in their native wilds live in flocks and guard themselves by a complete police system which enables them to marshal their collective force quickly when any animal or bird attacks one of their number. They seem to be disciplined and trained in fighting together, and all other birds, and animals are afraid to attack a parrot unless the bird can be caught alone. Even then a shrill call summons the parrot army to the rescue. It is said that in the forests all parrots die of old age and that none is ever killed by birds of prey or other wild animals.

The Eternal Feminine.
From the fresco paintings of women in the Cretan palaces of the period about 2,000 B. C. it is learned that the women of that time pinched in their waists, had bouffant or accordion skirts, wore an elaborate coiffure on their heads, shoes with high heels and hats which might have come from a Parisian hat shop, while one woman might be described as wearing a jupe culotte.

A DARING DUELIST

"Fighting Bob" Stockton Both a Quaker and a Fire Eater.

WAS THE PRIDE OF OUR NAVY.

He Could Give D'Artagnan Points on Getting In and Out of Rows and Once Challenged Ten Captains of a British Regiment to Mortal Combat.

The life of Robert Field Stockton is full of adventure and of remarkable exploits. He was a Quaker, and yet he was one of the greatest fighting men in the American navy.

While the young American naval officer was still in the early twenties he found himself with no less than ten duels on his hands. Stockton had served with distinction in the war of 1812, and when the rules of the Barbary states became troublesome a short time thereafter he accompanied the squadron to the Mediterranean and was one of the most active of the fleet in riding the sea of the pirates.

In those days the American navy was practically a stranger in European ports, and the British, smug under the defects of the war of 1812, were very unfriendly toward Americans. On one occasion the Erie, upon which vessel Stockton was an officer, dropped anchor in the bay of Naples. An Italian came aboard for a job and showed a recommendation given him by an American naval officer beneath which a British officer had written a contemptuous epithet.

Stockton was furious when he read what the British officer had written. Learning the officer was aboard one of the British men-of-war in the bay, Stockton sent him a challenge. The Englishman seemed disinclined to fight except at long range with pistols, but a duel was finally arranged.

Stockton shot the English officer in the leg. The Britisher dropped, yelling: "I'm hit! I'm hit! Are you satisfied?" Stockton said he was not, but finally agreed to let the matter drop if the Britisher showed proper courtesy to all Americans thereafter.

From Naples the Erie sailed for Gibraltar. The officers of the British regiment stationed there were still angry at the memory of the war of 1812 and made life unpleasant for the young American. Stockton was not the sort of man to take their insults calmly. The upshot was that he rashly agreed to fight a duel with each of the regiment's ten captains. The chances of his returning home looked very small.

Yet he fought several of the duels, wounding his adversaries, and escaped practically unhurt. The series of fights came to an end in a sensation at fashion before all ten of the captains had met him. In one encounter Stockton had just wounded his opponent severely when a guard of British cavalrymen swooped down upon him and placed him under arrest. Stockton wrenched himself free, sprang at one of his mounted captors, tore the man from the saddle, vaulted on to the riderless horse's back and galloped away to his ship, outstripping his pursuers and gaining the Erie in safety.

Stockton, feeling that he had been deceived by the British officers and that their conduct in arranging for his arrest was contemptible, branded them as a lot of knaves. Meanwhile Stockton was the idol of the squadron, and when he returned to New York in 1821 he was "Fighting Bob" to the whole country.

Stockton's next mission was to take charge of the American Colonization society's expedition to found a negro colony on the west coast of Africa. By rare diplomacy he secured and settled the African territory that later became the Republic of Liberia. Once, while in Liberia, he held a whole hostile tribe at bay single handed by leveling a pistol at their king. Upon his return, there being no work for him in the navy, he retired and for twelve years he was a successful financier and promoter.

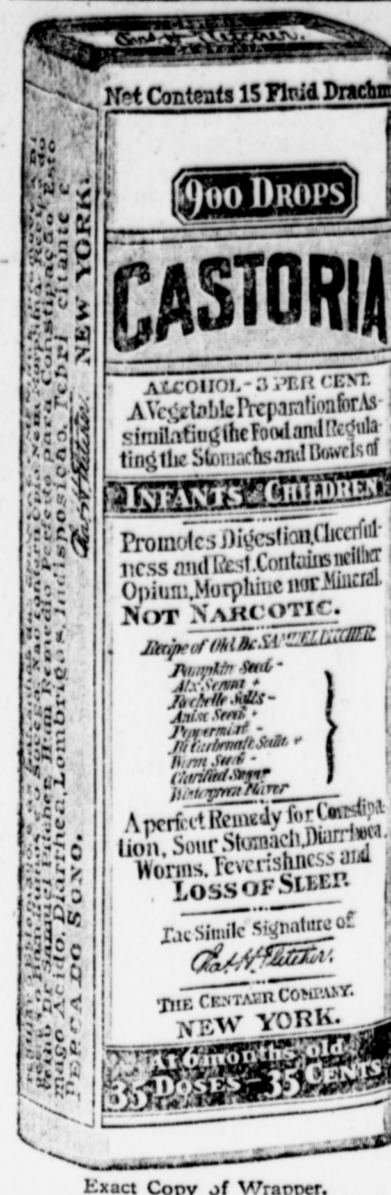

In 1838 Stockton went back to the sea. He devoted himself to introducing into our fleet the use of steam vessels in place of the old fashioned sailing ships and was thus in a way the father of the present mighty battleship and cruiser. Later he was made commander in chief of the squadron in the proposed attack on California, and in a short time he won for himself the title of "Conqueror of California." In honor of his achievements Stockton, Cal., and Stockton street in San Francisco bear the conqueror's name.

Stockton died in 1866, having combined during his career of soldier of fortune, the vocation of duelist, sea fighter, colonizer, territorial conqueror, financier and statesman.—Philadelphia Press.

St. Martin and the Dictionary.
St. Martin when he divided his cape with a naked beggar at the gate of Amiens gave also two words to the English language. The oratory in which this torn cape was preserved as a sacred banner acquired the name of "chapele" (from the French "chape"), the custodian being termed "chaplain," and thus our English words "chapel" and "chaplain" are derived.—Westminster Gazette.

"I don't know. I will, however, admit that my lawyers have dragged me through some very small loopholes."—Puck.

"DRYS" ARE CLAIMING SIX MORE STATES IN NATION

Four Voted Directly And Two Said To Have Favorable Legislatures.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—More than one-half of the forty-eight States of the Union have been put into the "dry" column. Those which were added to the list by the election Tuesday, making a total of "dry" States, are twenty-five, Michigan, Nebraska, South Dakota, Montana, Utah and Florida. The territory of Alaska has also been added to the "dry" possessions of the United States.

The States which voted on the liquor question in which the "dry" forces seem to have been defeated, although the returns are not all in, are California and Missouri.

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Illinois State Anti-Saloon League, said to-day:

"The victory in Utah and in Florida was in electing a Legislature favorable to 'dry' legislation. The Legislature is expected to promptly pass statutory prohibition.

"In the other four States which voted dry the people voted directly on the dry issue."

At the Prohibition party headquarters it was said the returns were so slow in coming in that a statement of the total party vote in the nation was hardly possible.

"From the fragmentary returns we have received," it was said, "we believe the Prohibition party about doubled its vote of four years ago. We think the vote will reach 500,000. We re-elected Charles H. Randall to Congress from the Ninth Congressional district of California. We also think we elected a Congressman, Mr. Atwood, from the Eleventh district of California and State Senator E. E. Loebeck, of Minnesota."

LEGALITY OF KANSAS VOTE TO BE INVESTIGATED

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 9.—Chas. H. Session, Republican State Chairman, announced to-day that legal counsel had been engaged to investigate the constitutionality of the Electoral Vote in Kansas. He would not say whether or not the vote would be contested.

It was claimed at Republican headquarters that the voters cast their ballots for the Presidential candidates rather than for Electors. The vote for Electors this year was made for the group instead of for individual Electors, as in the past. Republicans say this manner of voting was unconstitutional.

Before the ballots were prepared by the Secretary, Attorney-General S. M. Brewster gave out an opinion that the Electors were voted for as a group instead of individually. The ballots were prepared in this manner and there was only one square placed at the head of the list of Electors thus making it impossible for the voter to make an individual choice, it was asserted.

In commenting upon the Electoral vote in Kansas, Hubert Lardner, Democratic State Chairman, made the following announcement:

"The ticket was prepared by Secretary Botkin under an opinion by Attorney-General Brewster that by voting in the square opposite each party the voter would be showing his intention to vote for the 10 electors. The ballot is legal. The people voted their intention and the Secretary of State in Kansas has decided that the voters' intention must obtain in such cases."

Congratulations Pouring In.

Missoula, Mont., Nov. 10.—Messages of congratulations from suffrage leaders in many parts of the country poured into Missoula to-day for Miss Jeannette Rankin, Republican, the first woman to be elected to Congress. Miss Rankin's campaign managers contend that she had been successful by at least 2,000 majority.

"I felt that the women would stand by me," Miss Rankin said to-day. "It is wonderful to me to think of having the opportunity of being the first woman to sit in Congress with 434 men."

Miss Rankin is small and slight. She is a graduate of the University of Montana and the School of Philanthropy of New York City.

Judge Bush Wins.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Reversing a Republican majority of one year ago of more than 1,000 in the Third Judicial District, the Hon. Charles H. Bush, of Hopkinsville, appointed to the bench by Gov. Stanley to succeed the late J. T.

Tuesday by 2,073 majority. He carried Tuesday by 2,023 majority. He carried Calloway county by 2,250, Trigg 226 and Lyon 424. His opponent carried Christian, 827.

ROOSEVELT REPUBLICANS ARE GETTING BUSY

New York, Nov. 10.—Upon the wreckage of their old organization the Roosevelt Republicans have begun the erection of the new Presidential fortunes of Roosevelt.

Without restriction they now say he will loom quickly as the commanding figure in the "Grand Old Party" that he will, by virtue of being the complete antithesis of the President, automatically come to the front as the nominee of 1920.

The collapse of the Republican machine was no stunning surprise to the Progressives in the East. It was no crushing disappointment to many of them. The defeat of the Republican national ticket meant less to them than it meant to Republicans who stood staunch through the trying days of 1912. In fact, there were not a few Progressive Republicans connected with the Republican national campaign who foresaw defeat, and in the seclusion of their own chambers chuckled over it.

Their mental attitude toward the whole campaign dated back to the convention which defeated Roosevelt and nominated Taft.

GREATEST INCREASE

CONGRESSIONAL VOTE

Washington, Nov. 10.—Secretary Tamm to-night sent the following message to President Wilson at White House, Mass.:

"Election returns conclusively demonstrate that your victory at the polls is clear and decisive. You have carried two-thirds of the States of the Union. The four years of your Administration have brought you approximately 2,266,614 more votes than when you were first elected in 1912. This is the greatest increase given to an American President for a second term since the Civil War. Your vote last Tuesday was 2,060,708 more than ever previously recorded for a Democratic candidate, and, despite character of opposition, is the largest vote ever received by a President from the people of this country—952,955 more than the total Roosevelt and Taft vote of 1912. You have a popular plurality of 403,312, according to bulletin received from the Associated Press."

Wilson Wins North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 9.—President Wilson has carried North Dakota by about 1,500 votes, the returns indicate with only 96 precincts missing. The vote is Hughes, 51,000; Wilson, 53,463.

William Lemke, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, late to-day conceded that President Wilson had carried North Dakota, but that his lead over Hughes would not exceed 500 votes.

Charges that ballot box tampering is being attempted in Western North Dakota were laid before United States District Attorney Hilbreth by United States Marshal Doyle this afternoon. The attorney issued a statement declaring the purpose to investigate.

FORDSVILLE.

Nov. 13.—Farmers are very busy gathering corn.

Rev. Bandy filled his regular appointment at Olaton last Sunday.

Mrs. C. E. Miller spent Sunday with friends and relatives in Olaton.

There were not as many people in Fordsville last Saturday as there were the Saturday before, but the crowd made up for it Saturday night.

The rally was fine. Everything went off quiet and nice. Old and young enjoyed themselves following for Wilson and Marshall. The parade was great and highly enjoyed by all except the Hughes followers.

Mr. Tom Fuqua was here trading Saturday.

Mr. Joe Sinnett bought several mules and horses here last week.

Mr. C. E. Miller recently repurchased the fine jack, "Chicago" Pride.

John H. Smith is building a new stable.

C. B. Carden is buying a great deal of corn and hay.

Two-thirds of the world's correspondence is in the English language.

Nov. 13.—Never has there been such a stir in Beaver Dam as last week. Conflicting reports came thick and fast in regard to the election. One day one party would be rejoicing over the news while next day would bring news that would cause the other party to rejoice. Finally it was definitely settled that Wilson was elected and on Friday night the Democratic boys did their ratifying with their big guns. They rattled windows to such an extent that most of the town lost a good night's sleep. BEAVER DAM.

Nov. 13.—Never has there been such a stir in Beaver Dam as last week. Conflicting reports came thick and fast in regard to the election. One day one party would be rejoicing over the news while next day would bring news that would cause the other party to rejoice. Finally it was definitely settled that Wilson was elected and on Friday night the Democratic boys did their ratifying with their big guns. They rattled windows to such an extent that most of the town lost a good night's sleep. In the meantime the pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by the ladies of town, of all denominations, were conducting a revival meeting, but politics so overcome the men that they took but little hand in it. Pastor Creal and the good ladies were not to be discouraged. They went on through all the excitement and closed the meeting Sunday. The result was, 27 were baptized. In all, over 30 were added to the church and the Christian people were greatly revived.

Mr. Orval Taylor and wife left Sunday evening for Bowling Green to visit his mother. Mr. Taylor has accepted a position at construction work in Chicago and will make his home in that city in the future.

OLATON.

Nov. 13.—Rev. Bandy, of Fordville, filled his first appointment at Olaton, Sunday and Sunday night. He reached two very able sermons. Large crowds greeted him. His text was taken from the first five verses of First John. His discourse was greatly enjoyed and he had splendid attention. We predict for him, one of his most successful years. The pastor was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Mrs. C. E. Miller and two children, Fordville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. May, Sunday.

The election is over and it is as predicted, Wilson and Marshall were re-elected. We needed four more years of prosperity. We were also glad to see our Congressman, Hon. Ben Johnson, receive such a handsome majority in this district. He lead the ticket at Olaton. We were also glad to see old Kentucky re-
